

HEAD FOR COLOR

Shrunken heads are just that! A South American tribe called the Shuar would take the heads of fallen enemies, remove the skin whole, and shrink it down to the size of a fist as a war trophy. Shrinking the head of an enemy was believed to harness the spirit of that enemy.

SHRUNKEN HEAD MAZE

Directions: Help explorer Robert Ripley navigate through this jungle of a maze to find the lost shrunken head at the center!

